

Promise Scholarship FAQ's

Why did the LTC Foundation develop the Promise Scholarship?

The Promise Scholarship program was created to help provide access to an LTC education by relieving financial barriers. For eligible recent high school graduates, the scholarship covers the entire gap between federal and state grant aid and the costs of tuition and fees. Textbooks are not included.

When does the Promise Scholarship application begin?

The Interest Form for the fall 2018 scholarship will open Sept. 5, 2017 and remain available until February 1, 2018. If awarded, Promise Scholars will not need to reapply each semester, however, they will need to meet the renewal criteria to retain the scholarship.

If awarded, the Promise Scholarship will only apply to regular fall and spring semesters at LTC.

How do I apply for the Promise Scholarship?

To begin the application process, complete the online Interest Form (www.gotoltc.edu/promise).

Who is eligible for the Promise Scholarship?

What if I don't have a composite score of 16 on the ACT yet?

If you have not yet obtained a composite test score of 16 on the ACT, but believe you may be otherwise eligible, you may submit an appeal to the LTC Foundation while you are arranging additional ACT testing dates or Accuplacer testing.

Once a student enrolls at LTC as a Promise Scholar, the following criteria will need to be met to renew each semester.

How does this scholarship work with or differ from financial aid?

The Promise Scholarship requires students to apply and use all federal and state grants available to them. However, federal and state grants rarely cover the full cost of tuition and other costs associated with attending college. Promise funds will pay the remainder of tuition and fees billed by LTC that are associated with attending the student's designated program, other than textbooks.

Does the LTC Promise scholarship program cover the cost of textbooks or living expenses?

The LTC Promise will not cover the cost of textbooks or living expenses. It does cover tuition and fees billed by LTC for approved programs. If desired, students may access the federal student loan program to fund textbooks or living expenses. Promise students should be eligible for subsidized federal student loans.

What is the cost of the LTC application fee?

If you have not yet paid the LTC application fee, it can be waived after you submit the Promise Interest Form. After submitting the Promise Interest Form, complete your LTC application online and choose "I will arrange for other payment options” to satisfy the application fee. Students who pay the LTC application fee before completing the Promise Interest Form will not be refunded their application fee.

What programs of study can I apply to?

You must be admitted into a financial aid-eligible program to be considered for the Promise program. The Promise Interest Form lists all eligible program options.

How much of a scholarship will I receive?

The amount of your scholarship will vary. It will be calculated based on your total cost of tuition and fees less grant aid. The intent of this program is that you will not pay tuition out of pocket.

How is my financial need determined? ...and what is my Expected Family Contribution (EFC)?

Although you must complete the FAFSA and all financial aid requirements to know for certain, the FAFSA4Caster can help you to estimate your financial need and your EFC. Your EFC is part of your FAFSA results. To qualify for the LTC Promise Scholarship, a student’s EFC as calculated by the FAFSA must be $3,000 or less.

What if my EFC changes?

An EFC change after a Promise Scholarship has been awarded will be addressed on a case by case basis by the LTC Foundation.

What other scholarships are available for students not eligible for the LTC Promise Scholarship Program?

The LTC Foundation has over 125 scholarships for which students may apply each term. Also, there are targeted scholarships specifically for high school seniors available. Please visit the LTC Foundation site for more information. www.gotoltc.edu/scholarships .
