Unread messages are in bold. To open a message, simply click it in your message list.

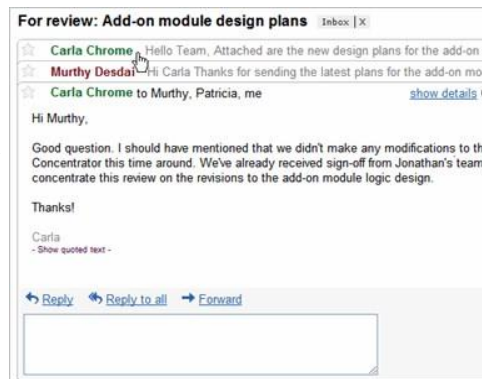

About conversations

By default, replies to messages are grouped into conversations. A conversation keeps all messages in a thread together, which makes it easier to keep track of them and reduces inbox clutter. Here's how a conversation appears in your Inbox:

Note that the number of messages in a conversation appears to the right of senders' names.

Here's what an opened conversation looks like

Note: You can control whether messages are grouped into conversations: Click Settings in the upper-right corner of your Gmail window and, on the General tab, scroll down to Conversation View.

If Conversation View is off, new messages won't be grouped into conversations, and any existing conversations are ungrouped into separate messages.

If Conversation View is on, you can't separate the messages in a conversation. However, if you want to send a reply but don't want it to be added to the conversation, you can simply change the subject line in your reply.

1. In the pane on the left, click Compose Mail.
2. In the To field, type the first few letters of recipient's name to look up the address in your corporate directory.

Add an attachment
